

WARSAW QUIET AFTER 36 HOURS OF TERROR

Hundreds Killed and Wounded by Cossacks and Police—More Serious Trouble Anticipated.

Authorities Refuse to Give Information

Warsaw, May 2.—2:30 a. m.—After 36 hours of terror the city is at present quiet, but the trouble is by no means over and the people are waiting in sullen discontent for an opportunity to get even with their oppressors. The city is an armed camp with Cossacks patrolling the streets in platoons ready at the slightest show of opposition to the authorities to shoot without warning. Infantrymen are massed at all of the principal squares ready to be sent to any point where trouble may break out and all of the conditions that follow the declaration of martial law are very much in evidence. So serious is the situation considered that more troops have been sent for and will be held in reserve outside of the city until the trouble is quelled.

Today can hardly bring about any improvement in the situation as the general strike proclaimed yesterday in all of the workshops and factories is now to go into effect and the thousands of idle workmen will hardly submit tamely to being denied liberty of speech or freedom to parade the streets at will.

How many were killed during the fighting on Monday and Monday night cannot be said. The bodies of the slain have all been conveyed to the barracks and information is withheld by the governor general and his subordinates and all inquiries have been threatened with arrest. The wounded are in the hospitals which are surrounded by police and Cossacks and admission is denied to all, even to those who are known to have relatives within. During the day there were three very serious encounters and innumerable minor clashes. The latest of these took place late in the evening just outside of the Vienne station. Here a Cossack patrol was being massed when some one threw a small bomb filled with nails and fragments covering a considerable area. Great confusion followed and the infantry guard, stationed at the right of the building fired repeated volleys into the crowd. The people dispersed in all directions leaving the ground behind covered with dead and wounded. The dead were hurriedly conveyed to an upper room of the station and a guard mounted over the door, while the wounded were taken to the nearest hospital. How many were killed or wounded is problematical, but it is certain to have been a considerable number. Inquiries at the police station were referred to the office of the governor general but there, as in the case of earlier encounters, information was refused.

The commandant of the troops reported that the original bomb explosion caused the death of three Cossacks and two policemen; the serious wounding of a dozen others and the fatal injury of two ladies who were leaving the station at the time. The names of these latter could not be ascertained, although it was rumored that they were members of a prominent family of the city.

The result of the earlier encounters was the instant killing of 41 persons and the wounding of nearly 100. In the encounter at Zelazna and Jersohnska streets where the Cossacks and police stopped a procession of socialists, 31 were killed and 60 wounded; while at the corner of Zlote and Sosnowa streets, where workmen attacked a military patrol, 10 were killed and 24 wounded.

The people are desperate in the extreme and many are armed with bombs supplied by the terrorists and revolutionary committees. They are expected to use these today and in order to prevent this, if possible the authorities are making a house-to-house search of all places where socialists are believed to be harbored.

AS IT IS DONE IN GREATER NEW YORK

THE WAY DISTRICT ATTORNEY JEROME GETS EVIDENCE.

He First Arrests His Man and Then Raids the Premises For Papers.

New York, May 1.—In line with the recent announcement by District Attorney Jerome that so important had become the disclosures before the grand jury in the investigation into the confession of David Rothschild, the convicted president of the Federal bank, that drastic steps would be taken, John W. Wooten, formerly counsel for the Federal bank and the Globe Security Co. was arrested tonight.

Following his arrest a raid was made on his home at No. 58 West Seventy-fifth street, similar to that of Jerome's men a year ago on Rothschild's apartments in the Ansonia. Detectives Reardon and Platt took possession of papers and personal property belonging to Wooten. The seal of the state was affixed to all the property.

Two hours later Frank H. Platt, son of Senator Platt hastened to the East Fifth street station where Wooten was locked up. He was accompanied by Justice Deuel, of the court of special sessions. A spirited effort was made to obtain the property seized in the raid. After Mr. Platt's demands proved to be unavailing, Justice Deuel commanded Detectives Reardon and Platt to surrender the property to Wooten.

Detective Reardon refused on the ground that he was a police officer serving a warrant in a felony case. He told Justice Deuel he had sealed and marked the property as evidence and that he would surrender it only to the district attorney or to the judge who issued the warrant. Frank H. Platt furnished the $1,000 bail and Wooten was released.

Rescue Party Failed.

Guthrie, Okla., May 1.—The failure of the rescue party, after working all day and night to get at the fifteen men entombed in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas coal mine near Wilburton, I. T., by an explosion yesterday makes it positive that the men cannot be taken out alive.

The air pipes were damaged by the explosion and the long delay in getting to them is positive evidence that those who outlived the force of the explosion are now dead of asphyxiation.

The New Umpire's First Appearance.

Toledo, O., May 1.—Great excitement was caused at the local ball game here today between St. Paul and Toledo when Manager Kelly of the visitors, Pitcher Ferguson and Catcher Noonan were put out of the grounds by Pop Kay, a new umpire, who made his first appearance today.

It looked like a riot for a moment but things subsequently quieted down. The trouble started over a bad decision.

Bill Nye's Home Sold.

Charlotte, N. C., May 1.—Buck Shoals, the handsome country home of the late Bill Nye, the famous humorist, was purchased today by Mrs. Sophie Eastman a sister of ex-Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago. The consideration is not known. Mrs. Eastman will improve the property and make her home there. Buck Shoals is situated twelve miles from Asheville, N. C.

MARRIED SECOND WIFE WITHOUT A DIVORCE

The marriage of Anthony B. Cocklin of this city and Miss Frances E. Stevens of Lima by Justice J. A. Bowman Saturday last has turned out to be a heart tragedy, bringing with it sorrow and disappointment, with the remote danger of criminal prosecution.

Cocklin had come to Canton some time ago and secured a position as machinist in the Timkin works. He had courted and won the affections of Miss Stevens and after he was located here she secured a license in her own home county and came here and was married. The two planned to go to housekeeping and bought a supply of furniture. Monday they were working together fixing up the home at 1133 Navarre street when a News reporter informed the husband that he had never been divorced from his first wife and that he was not legally married to the second one.

Mr. Cocklin was thunderstruck.

"What can I do?" he asked. "I supposed that a year ago my wife had secured a divorce. She began a suit against me and I secured a lawyer at Lima to look after my interests. After the case was heard he notified me that a divorce had been granted and that my wife had been granted $30 a month alimony. I could not pay this amount and I have been paying $20 a month by agreement."

He was informed that the decree at the court house shows that he had not been absent for three years at the time the case was tried and the divorce was refused, but alimony allowed for the wife and their three children. The wife lives with her parents at Middlebranch. The youngest is about four and the oldest ten years of age.

Mr. Cocklin stated to the News representative that all he could do would be for him and his second wife to separate. "We will do this this evening. I shall send her back to her relatives. I am sorry on her account," said he, "as we both entered into this marriage in good faith." He then went into the house to break the news to the bride of three days.

A little investigation showed that Mr. Cocklin was telling the truth. Had he not supposed that he was divorced he would not have come back to this city where he had lived and where the situation is known and where the attorney of his wife lives.

Miss Stevens is a nice looking woman and comes of a good family at Lima. It is understood that she is heartbroken over the sudden ending of her supposed marriage. She had spent quite a sum of her own money in fitting up the home.

Republican Convention Date.

BODY OF HENRY ZINTZ CAUSES COMMENT

There was considerable excitement and more than a little comment in Crystal Park last evening after the body of Henry Zintz, who was reported to have committed suicide at Massillon, was brought to his home on Harrisburg street to await burial.

His daughter Margaret of Philadelphia, came here to attend the funeral and many old friends and neighbors went in to view the body, expecting to see his face distorted and blackened from strangulation, his eyes staring and some sign of the death struggle upon his countenance. What they saw was the face
